

Percé hiking trail maps

Hiking is another great way to explore the unique beauty of Percé. With over 50 km of trails leading you through Percé's backcountry, discover the many places that are only accessible on foot. Walk past rivers of sparkling emerald-green water and into the heart of the boreal forest. Follow the trails through sun-lit clearings which lead you to mountain tops with breathtaking views. Choose your own path!

«Des rivières» Trail

This is an easy to moderate trail 27 km long, starting at Coin-du-banc and ending at Anse-à-Beaufils. If hiking the entire trail, or only a portion, do not miss the waterfall at the fork of the Rivière du Portage (also known as the Rivière des émeraudes)-it definitely must be seen! The trail then follows the Ruisseau Blanc to the river Murphy and continues to Val d'Espoir. The last section of the trail leaves Val d'Espoir and follows the banks of the river Anse-à-Beaufils, ending with your arrival at the fishing harbour.

«Des montagnes» Trail

This 14 km trail leaves Anse-à-Beaufils and follows the Ruisseau Côte de la Fourche to Route d'Irlande. Once back in the woods, the trail leads you from hilltop to mountain top with unparalleled views, ending in the mountains surrounding Percé. This section of the trail contains some steep climbs and descents, please use caution.
